MARDI HIMAL TREK: A JOURNEY INTO NATURE'S PARADISE

The Mardi Himal Trek is an exceptional short and exhilarating adventure within the Annapurna range, situated beneath the revered Mt. Machhapuchhre (6994m) and Mardi Himal (5587m), surrounded by lush Alpine and Rhododendron forests. This trek is one of the newly established routes in the Annapurna region, opened to trekkers after 2011 AD. It stands out as a remarkable short trek that offers breathtaking views of several majestic peaks, including Hiuchuli, Annapurna South, Annapurna I, Gangapurna, Fishtail, Gandarba Chuli, and Annapurna Fang. This journey not only showcases stunning natural beauty but also provides a deep cultural immersion.

The Mardi Himal Trek is renowned in the Annapurna region, alongside the Annapurna Base Camp trek, Khopra Danda Trek, and Ghorepani Poon Hill trek. This journey offers an exhilarating and fulfilling experience at the foothills of Mardi Himal (5587m). The term "Mardi" originates from the local language, meaning "spine" or "backbone," which refers to the mountain's sharp ridges. Meanwhile, "Himal" is the Nepali term for a snow-capped mountain or a snowy range. The trek provides an exceptional experience of culture, nature, and mountains. It is a moderately difficult trek suitable for both novice and experienced trekkers, including families with children. However, it is essential to note that physical fitness is required, as the trail involves ascending and descending, with daily walks of 5-6 hours in duration. The total distance of the Mardi Himal trek ranges from approximately 40 to 70 km, depending on the starting and ending points of the trek.

Each day, trekkers are treated to breathtaking views of the Himalayas, including the Annapurna, Manaslu, Ganesh Himal, and Dhaulagiri ranges. At lower elevations, you can witness the Gurung villages and lush green valleys adorned with rhododendron forests. Therefore, spring is the ideal season to experience the stunning bloom of rhododendrons and the majestic mountain views. The best seasons for trekking are autumn, spring, and winter, while the monsoon season is not recommended due to adverse weather conditions. Join Sherpa Nomad Trek Pvt. Ltd. to book the Mardi Himal trek for a comfortable package, where safety and security are prioritized, along with authenticity, impeccable hospitality, and a hassle-free, comprehensive experience.
